Press Release

Final Week to Nominate Your Amazing Volunteers

26th Annual Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards Nomination Deadline February 8 at 4 pm

Fairfax, VA (January 29, 2018) — The Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards recognize the dedicated service of everyday citizens who perform the selfless service that makes our community a great place to live, work and play.

Volunteers are everywhere! They are at school, on your team, in your work group, at your house of worship, and in your neighborhoods. Everyone can nominate so submit today! Visit www.volunteerfairfax.org to learn more.

Elise Neil Bengtson, CEO of Volunteer Fairfax says, “We are very excited about the 2018 Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards! This year marks the 26th annual presentation of these awards that honor the everyday citizens who are dedicated to serving our community. Behind every award nominee there’s a great story. Please nominate today so we can learn their story.”

For tips on how to submit an outstanding nominations, watch Learn Nomination Quick Tips Podcast.

All Award nominees and winners will be recognized at the 2018 Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards breakfast on Friday, April 27 at the Waterford at Springfield. The event is open to the public and is attended by over 400 community and business leaders. Special guests at the Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards will include Chairman Sharon Bulova and the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors.
