LEAD. CONNECT. MOBILIZE...

For 28 years Volunteer Fairfax and the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors have hosted the Fairfax County Volunteer Service Awards in April to coincide with National Volunteer Appreciation Month. The VSA honors individuals, groups and organizations who have contributed outstanding volunteer service to our community.

This year we recognize 162 individual nominees in 15 different award categories. These volunteers have been nominated by community members, local nonprofits, and government agencies for their dedication to the community.

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors proudly honor a volunteer in their district who is dedicated to improving life in the County and beyond. These Community Champions bring together other volunteers, employees and engaged citizens to address the needs and challenges in our region.

The VSA's are a celebration of the spirit of these great leaders in the community. But, make no mistake, volunteer service has real economic impact too.

According to the National & Community Service website, 2,243,147 volunteers in Virginia contributed 231.7 million hours of service, the equivalent of $5.5 billion invested in Virginia communities.

The volunteers celebrated within these pages assist our local government in providing enrichment and educational opportunities for the community, support environmental stewardship and aid to the most vulnerable among us.

They make possible the work of organizations like Food for Others, who continue feeding those in need in these trying times and Capital Caring, who provides hospice and long-term care for veterans. Their support inspires us and that's why Volunteer Fairfax will continue to honor them and to share their stories.

They represent the best in each of us.

BENCHMARK SPOTLIGHT

Janet has been the most consistent and dedicated volunteer at Barros thus far. Her connection not only with the adult residents, but also the youth, creates strong connections within the community that result in closeness and healthy relationships. Janet has a family of her own and a new-born grandson, but that does not stop her from coming in each and every week to help the youth with their homework, help to plan activities, and facilitate a one hour long Tai-Chi class for the adult residents.

Ms. Day's patience has helped tremendously with the children being able to successfully complete their homework. Her kindness allows for the residents to easily trust her. The adults have started to live healthier lifestyles since they started participating in Tai-Chi and some residents have even lost weight due to her wide knowledge of healthy eating. All of the residents look up to Janet Day as someone they can trust. This trust has been established because of her years of dedication and commitment to the community of Barros Circle.

"Janet Day is extremely kind, outgoing and she helps out in creating togetherness in the community through her consistent volunteering. She is a lifeline to this community center."

CORPORATE VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Northwest Federal volunteers have made a huge impact on the science center and the children we serve by contributing over 240 hours in the past 3 years. They are the volunteers we call when we are in a pinch and need extra helping hands.

Northwest Federal employees truly fulfill their company's motto in transforming lives across the community.

We are just one of very many nonprofits that Northwest Federal supports, so we are certain their impact is not only transformative, but exponential! We are truly honored that Northwest Federal employees have chosen the Children's Science Center to commit their time and energy. Since 2017, 90 employees have volunteered over 420 hours.

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT SPOTLIGHT

For the last 15 years, Kathleen has volunteered for our women's self-defense class. as the class coordinator responsible for all the logistics for 3 classes per year. She was one of the first participants of our self-defense class 17 years ago. The first time I met her she could barely get through the scenarios due to a past incident she encountered while walking to her car one night. That experience allowed Kathleen to share her story to those in similar circumstances while at the same time being a life example that they can overcome their fear.

Kathleen's patience and kind personality allows her to build a close bond with each participant. Her service to others has no boundaries, as she works in several communities in many in NOVA. Fortunately for the City of Falls Church, Kathleen has served shoulder to shoulder with the Falls Church Police Officers as a leader in the prevention of violence against women. Her desire to serve and her commitment to life's most vulnerable community members is second to none. Kathleen Snow Dempsey has a servant's heart of gold and grace.
