Dear Friends –

No doubt, there are things we will all want to forget about the past year, which put unprecedented stresses on individuals, families and communities during the pandemic; but I'd like to share some things I think everyone will want to remember.

We will look back on 2020 as a time that spawned unprecedented acts of humanity and charity in response to the overwhelming community need that was caused by the COVID-19 health emergency. We saw people helping their next-door neighbors, as well as complete strangers a half world away. The fact that this was a truly global emergency caused us to look at our own community in a more global sense, and we rose to extend aid to all of our neighbors in that spirit.

I am forever grateful for your personal donations of time and financial support. Thanks to your generosity, Volunteer Fairfax played a crucial role in supporting pandemic response in the areas of financial, food and housing insecurity, family support, emergency response, language translation services, public information and volunteer recruitment.

We carried out our mission with an increasing focus on racial equity and opportunity in marginalized communities and we launched a Task Force to open the door to more opportunities for persons with disabilities to serve their communities through volunteerism.

With deep gratitude, I am wishing you a bright year ahead, and hoping that you will continue to help us amplify the impact of Volunteerism here in the community.

Sincerely,

Steve Mutty
